INTRODUCTORY.

In presenting the public with the eighth volume of Caron's New Albany and Jeffersonville City Directory the publisher notes with much pleasure the progress the cities have made during the past two years. The New Albany department contains nine thousand five hundred and sixty three names, (9,563) an increase of nine hundred and thirty eighth (838). The Jeffersonville department contains five thousand one hundred and ninety one names (5,191), an increase of one thousand and seventy seven (1,077). The population can be fairly approximated at three times the number of names contained in the directory, so that the population of New Albany is twenty eight thousand six hundred and eighty nine (28,689), an increase in population of two thousand eight hundred and fourteen (2,814), and that of Jeffersonville, fifteen thousand five hundred and seventy three (15,573), an increase in population of three thousand two hundred and thirty one (3,231).

Besides the large increase in population there have been a number of large factories constructed and now in successful operation; of the old ones the DePauw Glass Works, N. A. Woolen Mills, N. A. Steam Forge Works and the N. A. Rail Mills have largely increased their capacity.

The publisher does not claim for his work an absolute freedom from errors and omissions, but he has guarded against them carefully and to the best of his ability, and believes the book will give general satisfaction.
